The Charleston News.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1872.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—Gold closed yesterday at 84.9.
—Cotton closed quiet in New York yesterday at 24 1/2 cents for uplands; sales 2719 bales.
—The Liverpool cotton market was quoted firm, but unimproved; uplands 10 1/2; Orleans 10 1/4; sales 15,000 bales.
—The colored people are said to be leaving Illinois for the South, going chiefly to the Gulf States.
—Joe Jefferson's orange island promises a yield of nearly two hundred barrels of oranges this season. The crop is being shipped to St. Louis.
—There is great excitement over the silver mines in Idaho, the ore of some of which is said to yield from one to two hundred dollars per ton.

—It is reported that the Postmaster-General, with a view of signaling his career in office, intends favoring the adhesive matter of postage stamps, with the various popular extracts, vanilla, wintergreen, &c.

—Small-pox deaths in Philadelphia last week numbered two hundred and thirty, about the same as the week before. In the number of new cases reported there is a falling off of about one hundred.

—Sir Moses Montefiore, now in his eighty-eighth year, telegraphed to the chief rabbi of Jerusalem, soliciting him to order prayers in Jerusalem, and in all the synagogues of the several holy cities, for the recovery of the Prince of Wales.

—In New York at a recent performance, Miss Wilson was so much annoyed by the loud talking of some persons in one of the stage boxes, that she sent a note telling them if they were not more quiet she would speak to them publicly from the stage.

—The Baltimore Gazette in noticing the recent death of Mr. B. F. Cator, of the well known firm of Armstrong, Cator & Co., of that city, says: "Mr. Cator was in the forty-eighth year of his age, and leaves a widow and five children." In all matters of charity, Mr. Cator was a liberal giver, and, especially, to the people of the South, for whom his sympathies in their struggle and their sufferings were deeply enlisted. Strictly a business man, he amassed a fortune, and it is but the simple truth to say that no one was more endeared than he to the hearts of his friends, nor any more meritorious in this city to greater esteem and confidence by those who knew him or had dealings with him."

—The friends of the smiling Vice-President will be much relieved by the following formal announcement: "Mr. Colfax has left himself constrained by the earnest request of his friends to so far yield his private wishes in regard to retiring from the public service, at the close of his present term of office, as to say that while he cannot ask for a re-nomination, he will not refuse to accept the nomination." The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce comments on that paper some interesting chapters concerning "public land frauds," showing land swindles, if the evidence cited is credible, on a scale that dwarfs even the operations of the New York Ring. The criminal game is explained from its inception among the New Mexican squatters down to the confounding acts of Congress. The stealing of hundreds of thousands of acres by tricks of survey and conveyance and other slow round-about processes, is a fearful crime, for it wrongs not one man, but every citizen of the United States. It is alleged that a half of the immense tract of New Mexico—an empire in itself—and a quarter of Colorado, suffer directly from the blighting influence of these transactions. The tenure of property all over that region is made precarious. The element of uncertainty enters injuriously on the enterprise of the settlers. In the wind-up of the latter a strong hint is given of the controlling power of the land grabbers in Congress, and the dire consequences that would befall that body if every member elected by the aid of such persons were expelled.

—Wm. P. Burns, of Buffalo, New York, has returned to his home from the diamond fields of South Africa. Mr. Burns was at the diggings from May to October, inclusive, and managed to accumulate about one hundred and seventy-seven carats, varying from one quarter of a carat to twenty-seven and a half carats in size. His most valuable find, a stone of twenty-five carats, brought him $300 in London. The diamonds of South Africa, as is well known, mostly incline to straw color in hue, and, as the supply has been immense, this variety of stone has fallen prodigiously in value. Mr. Burns adds, however, that his own good fortune is by no means a fair sample of the luck usually met at the diggings. He says that not more than two persons out of a hundred, on an average, succeed in making a handsome thing of the business. Many suffer and toil for months and months, and are glad at last to get away penniless. Mr. Burns reports the further interesting fact that a large proportion, if not a majority, of the seekers at the diamond fields are Americans. This suggests that a new American State may thus arise in Africa, and the singular spectacle may be presented of Americans ruling in Africa while Africans govern one-half of the United States.

—The proposed syndicate of Jay Cooke, Mr. Culloch & Co., and the Rothschilds, for $600,000 of the new United States funding bonds, was the chief topic of conversation in New York financial circles on Saturday. It became positively known that a joint proposition from the two firms named to Secretary Boutwell had been recently transmitted from London to Washington. Private telegrams from Philadelphia stated that President Grant, Secretary Boutwell and Mr. Jay Cooke were in consultation on the subject, and also that Secretary Boutwell looked upon the proposition with much favor. The terms offered by this syndicate have not yet been authoritative made public, although it is generally believed that the proposition is to take $300,000,000 new 5 per cents during the year 1872, with the privilege of $300,000,000 new 4 1/2 per cents for eighteen months. German to this subject is a statement prepared by the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, showing the various sums which have been paid by the United States treasury directly as commissions to its agents in placing its loans, converting, funding, &c., to have amounted to nearly $25,000,000. The indirect profits which these agents collectively recognized under the title of "the treasury ring"—have been able to realize, are believed to have also been large.

Minority Representation.

The Columbia Union, in discussing the question of minority representation, says: "The Democracy of this State would doubtless prefer that this measure should be introduced into this State in the form of an act of the Legislature, so that in case that party should ever gain ascendancy in that body, it could easily mend the matter by repeal of the act. What we desire is, that the principle should be engrafted into our State Constitution, so that it cannot be made the plaything of every political party that gets into power. In this connection, we cannot help asking how many Democratic Legislatures have thought enough of this principle of minority representation to recommend its adoption? There is a strong Democratic majority in the Georgia Legislature, but we have not yet heard of the proposition to introduce this principle in that State. No, Democrats only want this in operation where there are Republican majorities. Where the Democrats have a majority it is well enough as it is. We should be glad to see this system in practice in every State in the Union, and that is just what the other side does not want."

We beg to remind our contemporary that the plan of minority representation was first put in operation in a district in Pennsylvania where the Democrats had a large majority, and that this was done at the instance, and through the efforts, of Senator Buckalew. But the fact that Democrats did adopt cumulative voting in Pennsylvania, and have not done so in Georgia, is no argument for or against the acceptance of the same system by the South Carolina Legislature. We advocate cumulative voting because it is the simplest way of giving the minority their proportionate weight in the election of public officers. And we advocate minority representation because it is not just or right that a numerical majority should have unlimited control over the affairs of any State. The majority must rule, but the minority are entitled to a voice in council.

The necessity for the adoption of a plan which will give representation to the conservative minority in the low-country, and to the Radical minority in the up-country of South Carolina, is obviously great. And it is only because we desire that the system should go into operation at the next elections, that we have urged the Legislature to pass a law providing for cumulative voting. We desire to see a cumulative voting clause added to the State Constitution, and will cheerfully support the proposition of Senator Cardozo. But this constitutional amendment cannot be voted on by the people until next Fall, and cannot be ratified until the legislative session of 1872-73. It could not, therefore, go into effect until the General Elections of 1874. A constitutional amendment gives the people in two years what an Act of the General Assembly would give them at once. But the offering of the constitutional amendment need not interfere with the passage of a bill upon the same subject. We ask that a bill upon the same subject be passed this session, and that, at the same time, an amendment to the constitution be proposed which shall be voted on at the Fall elections. This will give the State immediately the advantages of minority representation, and will, also, engraft the principle upon the organic law.

We may add that we do not believe that the Democracy of the State desire to obtain the benefits of cumulative voting while they are in the minority, and to repeal the law when they have the majority. This, at all events, is not the policy of THE NEWS, which supports cumulative voting upon principle, and will fight for it to the end.

Scott's Tactics.

There is no force in the reasons given by Governor Scott for vetoing the Act to repeal "the Joint Resolution authorizing the Governor to employ an armed force for the preservation of the peace." In the event of serious disturbance, which is most unlikely, Governor Scott has the power, under the Act of September 22, 1869, to call out the militia, to suspend the writ of habeas corpus, and to seize all the railroad and telegraph lines in the State. This ought to be sufficient to give the Governor the power of the Act authorizes the Governor "to employ as many persons as he may deem necessary and proper" for the suppression of resistance to the laws. Even supposing that the United States troops are withdrawn, the Governor has ample means to create or quell a disturbance. The only reason why he does not wish the Joint Resolution to be repealed is, we presume, that it is a highly effective political machine, which may be advantageously used in the Fall canvass. The High Joint Committee explain how it was managed for Governor Scott's benefit in 1870, and the same game is expected to be played in 1872.

Mr. T. B. Crews has assumed editorial control of the Laurensville Herald. He proposes, very wisely, to devote unremitting attention to local news, and promises that, while holding to the good old faith of Democracy, the Herald will pursue a just and generous course towards those from whom it differs in opinion. We wish Mr. Crews and the Herald a great deal of success.

A CORRESPONDENT, who does not favor us with his name, thinks that the Scott-Parker Association intend to introduce a resolution looking to the expulsion of the most active opposers of Robbery and Corruption. This is to follow close upon the heels of the Scott counter-blast to Bowen. What next?

The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer, of January 3, says: "Governor Scott, the carpet-bag pirate of South Carolina, is building a magnificent residence in Henry County, Ohio, out of the stealings of his office."

Hostetter's Bitters.

WINTER-PROOF SYSTEMS.
Thick boots and moccasins are necessary at this season, but the human frame requires something more than these to render it winter-proof. The inner man, as well as the outer surface of the body, must be protected. The raw, moist, chilly winds which prevail at this season transpire the warmest clothing, and are apt to enter the pores and the respiratory organs. The secret way to avert the evil is to strengthen the internal machine, and thus enable it to repel the devastating influence of unwholesome weather. Bitter the blood, gently stimulate the circulation, regulate the bowels, invigorate the stomach, tone the liver, and brace the nerves with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, and no condition of the atmosphere, however inclement, no variation of the barometer or thermometer, however sudden, will have power to disorder the system thus fortified in advance, and put in perfect working order. Damp and cold, acting upon a sensitive or feeble organization, may produce consumption, diptheria, neuralgia, rheumatism, dyspepsia, liver complaint, low nervous fever, or intermittent fever; the importance of rendering the system impervious to these two destructive elements is therefore obvious. Persons of delicate health, or who are at all liable to be injuriously affected by atmospheric influences, should take the BITTERS daily throughout the winter and spring. In this way dangerous diseases may be warded off, and a condition of perfect health preserved by individuals of comparatively feeble physique, while the more robust, who scoff at precautions, are suffering the penalty of their recklessness in hospitals and sick rooms.
